Description
+ This 2016 Audi A3 TFSI e-tron is a plug-in hybrid model that combines a 1.4 litre petrol engine with electric power, meeting Euro 6 emission standards. Having had only two owners from new, this vehicle has covered 78,653 miles, which is a low mileage for its age. It offers a practical and efficient driving experience, blending the reliability of the Audi brand with the benefits of hybrid technology.
+ The vehicle is equipped with a range of features designed to improve convenience and visibility on the road. It includes LED headlights with dynamic rear indicators, as well as light and rain sensors that automatically activate the headlights when needed. Parking is made simpler with rear sensors and parking assistance, while the advanced key system allows for keyless entry. Inside, the cabin maintains a comfortable environment thanks to the dual-zone electronic climate control, ensuring that both the driver and passengers can manage the temperature to their preference.
